

Because he didn't know what to think of that little person who the queen had bought from the farmer