

As a Junior .NET Fullstack Developer, my role revolves around crafting both the front-end and back-end of web applications using the .NET framework. On the front-end, I create user interfaces that are visually appealing and user-friendly, employing technologies like HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Meanwhile, on the back-end, I work with databases, server-side languages, and APIs to ensure smooth functionality and data management.