ABSTRACT: ??Nurses and teachers need to use technology in curricula and distance education The results show that most faculty teachers use mail to communicate with their students Colleges use Facebook and YouTube for distance education, but a small number of participants reported using other applications Finally, there is no relationship between gender and age for teaching and research in the field of nursing to use social media CONCLUSION: this study revealed the poor scope for faculty, Therefore, more complexity and challenges for university administrators are very important.Introduction: The term social media is difficult to define because it includes many different things, if we define it: It is an application that allows the formation of a tow-way conversation or more between people.These goals are essential to facilitate Communication between teacher and student.ABSTRACT: Social media has been used and considered as a major tool of communication to facilitate communication.Introduction: ?????Facebook ?YouTube ??????????????