Helwan University Cairo is an Egyptian public university that provides high-quality academic programs governed by local and international standards.Helwan University also promotes scientific research, provides competency improvement programs for faculty members, and fosters cooperation with international educational institutions.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com