

Cosmopolitanization of modern life (Beck 2009), meaning the mixing of people from diverse ?cultural backgrounds, has set new sensible and more sophisticated standards for effective intercultural ?communication, reflexive dialogue and collaborative learning. An important quality towards this is ?one's rethinking/ re-evaluation of own experiences and assumptions to determine whether these ?remain .functional in a globalized context