

We learned from experiment is that oil is a substance that is not a substitute for water because it – doesn't mix with it unlike sugar and other substances that love water. When combined with a hydrophobic substance like oil and water they repel each other, but they don't mix with mix with each other. – Here, from this experience, we learned about the concept of an emulsifier, which is a catalyst .that helps them be combined and mixed