

Totalitarianism is a political system in which the state holds total authority over society and seeks to control all aspects of public and private life wherever possible. Famous Examples in History: o Nazi Germany under Adolf Hitler o Soviet Union under Joseph Stalin o North Korea under the Kim dynasty In short, totalitarianism seeks to create a society where the government controls everything, including how people think and behave. Suppression of dissent: Political opposition is banned, and critics are punished. 2.3.4.5.6.7