

nursing is protection promotion and optimization of health and abilities, prevention of illness and injury alleviation of suffering through the diagnosis and treatment of human reasons and advocacy in health care for individuals, families, community, and population