

Angel Reese Makes Big Announcement With New Release. Chicago Sky star Angel Reese continues her "slow grind," both in basketball and in business. Reese is spending parts of her offseason working on her game. In fact, she recently shared a sneak peek of her workout routine, where she appears to be practicing jump shots, which is a major hole in her offensive arsenal. Amid her workout sessions, however, the 22-year-old All-Star isn't forgetting about her off-court ventures. In her latest practice, Reese wore her new "Unapologetically Angel" T-shirt, a merchandise item for her podcast show of the same name. Reese wrote along with a link to her website where fans can purchase the merch