

Is the smallest level, where you can understand each individual behaviour and beliefs in the society, it starts with the agents of the society who each person in society, the hospital in the society. Second, the attributes of the agents which are age, gender, and the strength of their immune system, and type of flu