

Ambulatory surgery patients technically have a length of stay of 1 day. In other words, they are treated and released on the same day.