

Do you think our life would be better without modern means of communication? People in ancient ages used messengers, flags, fire and drums to communicate. We couldn't communicate easily with our relatives and friends if they travelled or lived in a remote area. To conclude what I have tackled in this essay, In my opinion, we should appreciate our current means of communication. On the other hand, now due to modern technology it is easier and quicker to communicate through mobile phone calls or using the internet connection to get the latest news all over the world. Means of communication in the past and nowadays are completely different. We consider ourselves luckier than our grandparents