

After 5 days of incubation at 28 ± 2 °C, the emergence of a pellicle at the subsurface level indicated a (positive nitrogen fixation test, following the method described by Rodrigues et al. (2016