The employees involved in the scandal reportedly used their access to confidential information such as upcoming partnerships, product launches, or market-moving events to place trades that would benefit from these events before they were publicly announced, thus profiting from insider knowledge.

lakhasly.com © تم تلخيص النص بواسطة موقع لخصلي