

.The host processor uses this information to route the transaction to the cardholder's bank