

James and Ann were driving to the airport. Ann asked James if he had remembered to take his passport. He realized that he had forgotten it. He had left it in his jacket pocket at home