

mistake I learned from in my life is postponing homework and studying for exams. Also, when doing my homework, I used to do them the night before they are due. This used to cause me stress before exams. Now I started preparing for the exams at least 4 days before the exam day, during the night of the exam I do a quick