

Operates using Non-Dispersive Infrared (NDIR) technology. Infrared light passes through the air sample, and CO₂ molecules absorb specific wavelengths. The instrument calculates the concentration based on the absorbed infrared energy.