

There are three sources of water: Groundwater: It is underground water that exists between the pores and gaps of rocks and dirt. Surface Water: Surface water includes bodies of water such as lakes, rivers, ponds, and Stearns. Rainwater: Rainwater can be collected from rooftops and other surfaces and .utilised. It's commonly found in aquifers. Rainfall is the natural supply of surface water