The monosaccharide is depicted with the carbon chain horizontally, the anomeric C–1 atom being to the right. The groups, including the anomeric hydroxyl, which occur to the right in the Fischer projection then appear below the ring plane. The atom C–6 (usually CH2OH group) will always be above the plane in the .pyranose forms of D–sugars