

The place is perfect, the weather is wonderful, but if you're with the wrong person, a vacation can be a disaster. Joe, 28, a flight attendant, last October, I went on vacation to Thailand for two weeks with my girlfriend, Mia. The vacation began well. For our last four days we went to Ko Chang, a beautiful island. We spent our last night back in Bangkok, and we met some travelers from Australia. It was awful. We argued about everything. It was like being in paradise.
