

any planned and deliberate act of physical or intangible violence carried out by an individual, group or state against another party in order to achieve direct or indirect objectives that lead to destruction , sabotage or murder