

I notice that there is an attraction between two bodies because we have a force and m that means mass Like two charges, that has a force between them And then it depends on the distance As the distance increases, this force decreases and The difference between them is the first between small bodies and the second between large bodies because he said that the universe is a big thing