

is to restrain accidents by sending an alert message to the verified and registered mobile phone through wireless communication technology techniques. Therefore, if any accidents occur anywhere, the sensor will send the location the alert message is instantly transferred to that specific mobile phone registered via the GSM module. As it can be monitored through a private website with a security method of .username and password