

Phileas Fogg, a wealthy and routine-oriented Londoner, hired Jean Passepartout, a Frenchman, as his servant on October 2, 1872. Passepartout agreed, and Fogg entrusted him with GBP20,000 for the trip