

Family history is one of the major and potential causes of hearing loss in children, as the child's family history may make it easier to know whether hearing loss in newborns is due to family history