

It is the path to self-development and the path to the future for societies. It unleashes various opportunities and reduces inequalities