

Pollution is one of the great problems of modern life. Planting more trees and fixing efficient filters to industrial factory chimneys will help purify the air and keep the environment clean. Yet, trains, buses, trucks, cars, ships and aeroplanes pollute the air with the smoke that comes out of their exhaust pipes and chimneys full of carbon dioxide and lead oxides.