

Overweight and obesity pose significant health challenges, impacting both children and adults and diminishing overall quality of life. The global prevalence of childhood overweight and obesity has escalated from 4.2% to 6.7% between 1990 and 2010, with projections estimating a staggering 9.1% by 2020.