

Managing a sales team can be crucial, contributing to increased sales, customer satisfaction, and team motivation at Noor Al Emarat Retail. Bilal demonstrated this by setting clear goals, implementing key performance indicators, providing necessary training for employees, and focusing on skills such as communication and product knowledge to improve customer service. He also leveraged data to hire more employees in busy stores and implemented a structured hiring and onboarding process.