

In the first of the four Toy Story movies, we are introduced to the gang of toys: Woody, a pull string sheriff cowboy doll, Rex, a plastic T-Rex, Mr. Potato Head, Bo Peep, Slinky Dog, and Hamm, a piggy bank. Andy, a young boy, regularly plays with his toys, coming up with new adventures every day, and the toys are happy as can be. However, when Andy gets a new toy for his birthday, not only does Woody now have to compete for Andy's favorite, which, up until now, he has always been, but he also has to deal with Buzz Lightyear, the spaceman action figure that actually believes he is a spaceman on a mission. Seeing all your favorite toys come alive is also fun, while there were many toys that were created specifically for the movie, many others are featured that already existed, including Barbie, G.I. Joe, little green army men, and Barrel of Monkeys. When Buzz enters Andy's room, all the toys are very impressed by Buzz's bells and whistles. All accept Woody, who finds him insufferable – he thinks he's the only Buzz Lightyear in the world