Big Data is the collection of massive amounts of information, whether unstructured or structured.Today, many organizations are collecting, storing, and analyzing massive amounts of data.