

yes it does rain on other planets but the types of rain could be different from the one we experience on earth