It is about two young people who fall in love with each other. However, their families, the Montagues and .the Capulets, had an argument many years before