

The strategic decision area of operations management that deals with the design of organizational .output is primarily addressed by Amazon through technology