

Protecting the environment starts with individual actions. Reducing waste through recycling, reusable items, and minimizing single-use plastics is crucial. Conserving water and energy by fixing leaks, using energy-efficient appliances, and turning off lights significantly lowers our environmental impact. Finally, choosing sustainable transportation like walking, cycling, or public transit reduces carbon emissions and improves air quality.