

Pasta is a type of food loved by many around the world. Pasta consists mainly of flour and water, and some additional ingredients such as eggs may be added to it in some recipes. Pastas are very diverse and come in different shapes and sizes, such as spaghetti, fettuccine, penne, and others. Pasta is usually cooked in boiling water