

In the field of Industrial gases, training at Abdullah Hashim Company provides an opportunity to work in complex air separation processes, and this is my educational experience, focusing on the basic aspects of mechanical separation and the basic components used in this method