

I learned that a person should always think of solutions to all the problems he faces, and he should think of all possible possibilities before he undertakes any experience in his life, as at the end of the story Robinson returned to England and became rich after living on the island, as before he left England he put all his money with his girlfriend to invest it, and this also shows us that social relationships are very important