

theme Wealth, Class, and Society: The characters represented the wealthiest members of 1920s New York society. Instead, the rich characters showed their negative qualities on display: wastefulness, pleasure seeking, and carelessness. Tom Buchanan came from the wealthy elite, while Jay Gatsby was a self-made millionaire. The novel also suggested that wealth was not equivalent to social class. Despite their money, they were not portrayed as particularly ambitious.