

Almost anyone can use augmented reality on their mobile phone; all you need is an app that offers augmented reality features. Some apps may require other features, such as GPS or Wi-Fi, virtually. Most recent devices support for augmented reality that delivered at the operating system level such as iOS and android