

As of now, there is no widely available vaccine specifically for preventing infections caused by Streptococcus pyogenes and the best way to prevent Streptococcus pyogenes infections is through good hygiene practices, such as: 1. Washing your hands regularly with soap and water. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6.