

When I was 7 years old, my family and I traveled to the United States of America because my dad needed to finish his degree. Once I was at school, I didn't know where to go, but I followed some other students to their classroom. The teacher asked me for my name, but I didn't understand her, so I spoke to her in Arabic. She then gestured for me to go to the office, but I didn't understand what she meant. When I was at school, I didn't know where to go, but I followed some other students to their classroom. The teacher asked me for my name, but I didn't understand her, so I spoke to her in Arabic. She then gestured for me to go to the office, but I didn't understand what she meant. I had no idea what school was at that stage, so I didn't know what to say to my dad. I went out of the classroom and started crying. My dad explained that the teacher wanted me to go to the office to find out where my classroom was. When I was seven years old, my family and I traveled to the United States of America because my dad needed to finish his degree. I had no idea what school was at that stage, so I didn't know what to say to my dad.