

Change can be implemented in accordance with the objective and external reality or contextual evidence that results from institutional