

Operating system goals: Execute user programs and make solving user problems easier o Make the computer system convenient to use o Use the computer hardware in an efficient manner?A program that
? acts as an intermediary between a user of a computer and the computer hardware