

The defendant's guilt in the murder case is apparent due to several compelling pieces of evidence. Lastly, the defendant failed to provide an alibi proving his absence during the time of the murder. Firstly, multiple witnesses observed him hastily fleeing from the crime scene.