

A brilliant man, who seems to have reached the limits of natural knowledge. As an intellectual, Faustus is familiar with things (like demon summoning and astrology) not normally considered academic subjects by today's universities