

The Laboratory Mia's father had a laboratory, but she had no idea what was in it. Her dad always closed and locked the door when he went in. She knew that he used it to do projects for work. One night, Mia approached the door to the laboratory. He never told Mia what these projects were. "He didn't lock the door!" "Oh, it was terrible," she said. "Why don't we see what is in there?" "It will be a fun adventure