

At that time, Britain was inhabited by small groups of hunter–gatherers who followed deer herds. These .groups lacked permanent homes and lived a nomadic lifestyle