It is supposed by many that schools should only focus on education, whereas, others think that it should be a fun place to be. Although learning should be one of the agenda, I strongly believe that schools should focus on overall development ; hence, it should be a place for entertainment.For instance, it is seen that at school, pupils come from various family backgrounds ,and they all play together which provides an excellent opportunity for young boys and girls to know and mingle with each other in spite of having differences in their upbringing.Secondly, at school children picks up crucial personality traits that cannot be learnt if the focus is solely on education.
